LT MRS. BRENNAN would be extremely grateful to any person who would give information respecting her deluded hasband, John Brennan, alias Neal. He left her in distress and in the family way in November last, and went to New Orleans with a Mrs Barton, alias Smith, (calls herself a midwife,) who is reported to be a very infamous character. She is about 44 years of age, rather below middle stature, small handsome nose and mouth, dresses well and neat, and withal good looking with a waddling gate. The man is about 24 years of age, dark hair, light gray cat looking eyes, meagre about the smouth, middle stature and awkward gait—she calls him husband, though sometimes she assumes the name of another paramour, (Smith.) They are said to have lately returned in ship Saratoga.

1 is a medicine possessing great virtue, and when used according to the directions has never fulled of effecting a cure, even in the most obstinate stage of the disorder; it is not at all disagreeable, and persons of the weakest stomach and children may take it with impunity. It strengthens the digestive organs, creates an appetite, and seldom requires more flam one, or in obstinate cases, two bottles to effect a cure. There is neither mercury nor arsenic in the medicine, nor any thing injurious to the human constitution. The proprietors are so well convinced of its efficacy, that they agree to refund the price of every bottle which has been taken in accordance with the directions,

Notice To the Public.—The contents of the Norfice To the Public.—The contents of the Confectionary store, No. 603 Division street, was sold by order of the Sherif, on Saturday the 10th inst. for a claim of carpenter work held against us of $150, which money I gave to Bryam two months previous to pay the said claim, but he spent it in rioting and dissipation. The whole stock and fixtures was hought in by Bryam's assignee. At the sale Bryam gave him the money to pay for it, and gave orders where to remove the stock and fixtures after the sale. We have been in business together since the 17th of March last, and during that time he has swindled me out of more than $500, which I can prove. I have bound him over for threatening to set the said store on free—and on Saturday evening last I had him taken to the watchboose, and kept him there till morning, for threatening to shoot me with a brace of pistols, to which a dirk was attached, and were taken from him at the watchboose. The character of this monster is too well known to the public to require any further disgrace from me than by simply saying that he is an Kardishman and a scoundrel, and deserves not the patronage of an American public. Therresidence of this villian is 208 Browery, and known as the Bowery Steam Confectionary, which is a great a bore as was ever puffed by any foreigner to deceive the public. THE AFILICAN GLEN,

Being an artificial representation of the sequestered Mountain Pass in the heart of Southern Africa, opening occasionally upon magnificent bursts of distant scenery, over which the eye wanders untired for miles and miles; while at every step the visiter is startled by the savage seowl of some of the desert monsters, or stands lost in mute admiration of the graceful forms of the THOUSAND SPECIES OF ANTELOPE, roaming in countless herds over the Karoo. LIONS, TIGERS, LEOPARDS, HYENAS, EAGLES, VULTFURES, OSTRICHES AND YOUNG, together with animals and birds hitherto new to science, are seen in their dens busied in the work of destruction, or bounding its sport among the rocks. A cavern leading through MASSES OF PILED ROCKS, now opens on an extensive view of the CAFFRE COUNTRY, abounding with objects of interest. Here, a wounded elephant attacking his pursuers; there, a view of the two Missionary Settlements, a tree in the Boccusian country containing the hats of seventeen native families, and the massacre of an English party by the natives. tance 50 cents—children half price.
